SAINT LOUIS AFRICAN AMERICAN HISTORY & GENEALOGY WORKSHOPS

Whether you're a novice or an enthusiast, join us for ongoing workshops designed to develop basic skills in gathering, preserving, researching, and publishing the history, genealogy, and culture of people of African descent in the St. Louis region.

ON MARCH 20 Darius Gray offers an in-depth look at the Freedman's Bank records. *Join us before the lecture at 9 a.m. in the Lee Auditorium as Gray and Margaret Young present their film, Nobody Knows: The Untold Story of Black Mormons (60 min.). A screening will be followed by Q&A with the producers. Visit www.untoldstoryofblackmormons.com for more information on the documentary.

ON APRIL 24 view Oh Freedom After While: The Missouri Sharecropper Protest of 1939 (90 min.). The film is based on the life of Owen Whitfield, a black sharecropper who rallied both black and white sharecroppers in hopes of creating better conditions for farm workers. A discussion follows led by Shirley Farmer, Whitfield's daughter.
