

I Was a Teenage Feminist: A Documentary Film About Redefining the F-word
at the Missouri History Museum in Forest Park

Thursday MARCH 19

Lee Auditorium

7 p.m.

FREE

Why is it that young, independent, progressive women in today's society feel uncomfortable identifying with the F-word? Filmmaker Therese Schechter takes a funny, moving and very personal journey into the heart of feminism. Armed with a video camera and an irreverent sense of humor, Schechter talks with feminist superstars, rowdy frat boys, liberated Cosmo girls and Radical Cheerleaders. Beginning as a quest to find out whether feminism can still be a source of personal and political power, this film ultimately redefines the F-word for a new generation. (Running time: 62 minutes). Please be advised that this film contains mature language and subject matter and may not be suitable for all audiences.

After the film, join us for an open conversation. Light refreshments will be provided.
