

Telling Our Stories at the Missouri History Museum in Forest Park

Saturday MARCH 6, 13, 20, 27 and APRIL 3, 10

12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Millstone Learning Center

FREE

Open through April 4, 2010

 RACE[®]

Are We So Different?

A project of American Anthropological Association
Funded by Ford Foundation and National Science Foundation

National Presenting Sponsor

Local Presenting Sponsor

Children's Foundation

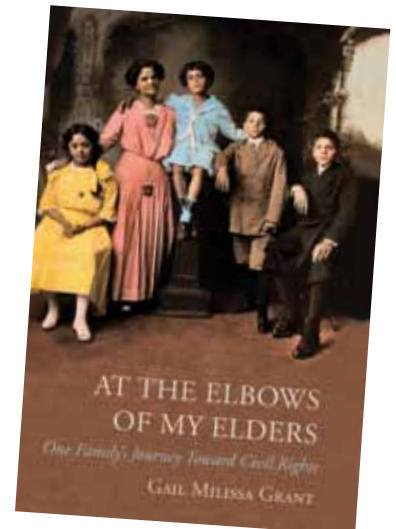

This project is supported in part by an award from the National Endowment for the Arts

Telling Our Stories

African American families fought segregation in their local communities for decades before the civil rights movement. Telling Our Stories encompasses a series of workshops that will serve as a creative forum for both black and white St. Louis-area residents to express their personal experiences with segregation. The catalysts for this project are Gail Milissa

Grant's book At the Elbows of My Elders (published by the Missouri History Museum) and a dance piece to be performed at Washington University's Edison Theatre that pays homage to Rosa Parks. Contact Ann Rothery at (314) 935-3389 or arothery@wustl.edu with your interest or questions about participation.

Adults: $8; Seniors/Students/Groups/Active Military: $6; Children 6-12: $4; Children 5 and Under: Free
Tickets for MHM members are free based on membership level
Free admission on Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. for St. Louis City and St. Louis County residents

Culminating Performance: Tues., April 13 • 6 p.m.
MacDermott Grand Hall • Free (Refreshments provided)

MISSOURI HISTORY MUSEUM
Lindell & DeBaliviere in Forest Park
(314) 746-4599 • www.mohistory.org

Missouri
History
Museum