

THEATRE IN THE MUSEUM

RESERVED PERFORMANCES

A Doughboy from St. Louis.

Learn the horrors of mechanized warfare and of the sacrifice of millions.

Elijah Lovejoy: Abolitionist Martyr

Hear the words and come to understand the philosophy of someone who paid the ultimate price for his beliefs.

Go Home Rosie!

Find out what happened to Rosie the Riveter after World War II ended.

The Great Fire of 1849

Hear the story of Thomas Targee's bold plan to save the city of St. Louis from utter destruction.

The Journey West: St. Louis and the Oregon Trail

Learn about the travels and tribulations of those who went west seeking a better life.

The Life and Times of a Civil War Spy

Relive the harrowing days of the CW in and around MO through the eyes of a Confederate Spy.

Veuve Chouteau

St. Louis's founding mother hears the news of the Louisiana Purchase — and she is not pleased.

Postcards from the Fair

A recollection of what it was like to be a young boy at the 1904 World's Fair.

If I Can't Be a Soldier

The story of The Civil War's pioneer professional nurses.

Reserved performances can be booked at the Missouri History Museum for $75 or can be brought to schools for $150 for classroom performances (with additional performances added for a fee) by calling the reservations office at (314) 361-9017 or emailing reserv@mohistory.org. Recommended audience size is up to 45.

MISSOURI HISTORY MUSEUM

Lindell & DeBaliviere

Forest Park

314.746.4599

mohistory.org/schools

Missouri
History Museum