

The Association of Midwest Museums (AMM), founded in 1927, is a dynamic, non-profit membership organization that provides resources to museums and cultural institutions and services to museum professionals in an eight-state region in the Midwest, including Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

AMM provides a forum for dialogue and an exchange of ideas, provides resources to create and sustain strong cultural institutions, and fosters professional development and leadership within the museum community. Through its programs and activities, AMM encourages professional standards for all areas of museum administration and provides cutting-edge information and resources to museums and cultural institutions in the Midwest and the greater museum community.

The Association of Midwest Museums strengthens the museum community by providing accessible and affordable professional development programs and networking opportunities that encourage the exchange of information and new ideas.

AMM is looking for a student that is interested in working on task related to and not limited to:

- Administrative and miscellaneous clerical work
- Conducting Internet research
- Updating AMM Database
- Data Entry
- Fundraising for annual, regional conference

The preferred candidate will be a Junior or Senior with a current major in Business, English, Marketing, or Arts Administration.

To apply, the applicant needs to provide a résumé, and a short statement of the candidate's interests and/or intent in applying for the internship. Reference contacts may be requested at the time of interview. Completed applications should be sent by regular mail, or email to:

Brian Bray
C/O
Rachel Drochter
P.O. Box 11940
St. Louis, MO 63116
info@midwestmuseums.org